“Employers have an essential role to play in developing solutions, and we’re going to continue this conversation with the business community. I’m going to work with Jim Rooney to bring members of the Chamber together with my housing team. We are going to identify opportunities to create workforce housing, and I invite everyone to bring your input, your ideas, and your resources to the table.”

2019 Government Affairs Forum

2020 GOVERNMENT AFFAIRS FORUM PACKAGE

We’re offering a special deal on our Government Affairs Forum that allows you to book your tables for the entire year.

Presented in partnership with Bank of America, these typical sell-out events provide a platform for professionals to gain valuable insight from prominent government officials, build a strong network in the business and government communities and engage in important policy issues impacting our region.

Book your corporate tables before January 15, 2020 and save up to 20% on our normal registration fees, plus receive preferred seating.

We host seven Government Affairs Forums a year, including our annual forums with Governor Charlie Baker and City of Boston Mayor Martin J. Walsh. Network with top executives and civic leaders while you hear firsthand about key topics that impact our region. Host your clients and/or staff at a table, and be in the room when influential elected officials break news.
